AUTHENTIC SAFARI EXPERIENCES

One of Africa's Last Remaining Wild Frontiers

Close your eyes and imagine a wild and untouched nirvana, a landscape that has been carved from the meanderings of one of the oldest rivers in the world. Imagine spending your days here, observing the vivid contrast between a sense of wildness and peace. Experience this at Nyamatusi Camp or Nyamatusi Mahogany, the last remaining wild frontiers in Africa.

Opening in April 2019, Nyamatusi Camp and Nyamatusi Mahogany, will offer guests the opportunity to explore a remote and pristine corner of Mana Pools National Park. As pair of boutique safari camps offering bespoke safari experiences, Nyamatusi and Nyamatusi Mahogany will allow guests to experience an authentic view of the old untouched Africa.

Designed following the principles of environmental consciousness and sustainability, the camps leave nothing but footprints in this place of fierce beauty. Inspired by the traditional custodians of the land who respected the river as the source of life, the design of the camp subtly incorporates the element of water and pays homage to the astounding beauty of the mighty Zambezi River while inspiring a feeling of remoteness.

Nyamatusi Camp will consist of six luxury tented suites with uninterrupted views of the river and escarpment beyond; surrounded by an untouched world of enchantment. Nyamatusi Mahogany, a sister camp, will be latest addition to African Bush Camps collection of family-focused safari camps. Comprised of two family suites and two standard suites, the camp will promote a philosophy that welcomes families into the wild.

Join African Bush Camps at Nyamatusi Camp and Nyamatusi Mahogany, and follow in ancient footsteps deep in the wilds of Mana Pools National Park.
